The Louisville Democrat has the following timely bits:

John C. Breckinridge is running for the Confederate Congress. He must think it is somewhere in the neighborhood of Nashville or New Orleans.

The rebels talk loudly of beating the Union armies, but latterly it seems the only thing they can beat is a retreat.

Breckinridge, Buckner, and Hardee, great guns of rebellion, only showed their breeches at Bowling Green, and they "went off" too easily.

If Jeff Davis wants to get in a safe place, we advise him to climb a high tree and draw it up after him.

The general who commanded the rebel rear at Bowling Green was, of course, the Hindman.

A NEW YORK—Hardee's Bowling Green tactics is upon the subject of retreats.
